John Carter and the Giant of Mars 2018-05-23 new york foreword i wish to acknowledge my indebtedness to the editors of several magazines for the reprint the following stories in book form carter was originally published in harpers monthly magazine under the title the mulatto death and old man murtrie was printed in the new republic others were first brought out in every bodys magazine short stories pur nams magazine and the saturday evening post the penitent was originally printed in the pictorial re view with the title the healer and the penitent the plot of this story is taken from two poems one by browning and one by owen meredith happening to read these two poems one after the other i was struck by the fact that owen meredith had unwittingly written what was in effect a continuation of a situation invented by browning the plot of the one poem teiescoped into the plot of the other made in effect a complete short story i pasted the two situations together so to speak inventing an ending of my own and had a short story which neither browning nor owen meredith could claim as his and which i scarcely have the nerve to claim as mine and yet this story taken piecemeal from the two poets gave me more trouble than anything else i ever tried to write it was all there apparently but to transpose the story into a modern american setting was a difficult job it is my only essay in conscious plagiarism i hate to call it piagiarism but what else could one call it and i give you my word that it is easier to invent than to pragiarize the one act play words and thoughts was written ten years ago and has been offered to every theatricai manager in america and refused by them all i still believe in it as a thing thatcoud be acted with effect and i am determined to get it read even if i cannot get it produced the fact that it has been going the rounds of theatrical managers for ten years is no indication that it has ever been read
