notice to homeseekers good farm land at a reasonable price directing people toward picturesque foley alabama a new town with an ideal climate and boundless resources it was the final stop on the railroad spur to south baldwin county that was completed in 1905 first built on an agriculture and timber economy the town was soon home to businesses that sprang up during the population explosion nearby elberta a german colony and the river towns of magnolia springs and bon secour also experienced accelerated growth as the area was developed the heritage of the greatest resource the people of foley is best told in the photographs long treasured by families of the earliest settlers and collected by the authors to be shared and preserved for posterity without preaching this argues for eating meat in a better way sustainably ethically intelligently and with an understanding of farming diana henry the daily telegraph this book is a celebration of proper meat meat as it was before it got messed with before animals became a unit of production but were reared to produce excellent food and were willingly given an equally excellent life it explores the connection between nature and farming and the result is a mixture of hands in the earth wisdom and balanced seasonal recipes meat is revered and stretched as far as we can make it go by respecting the animal and using every part cheek to lard tendon to tail the recipes are not just meat and two veg but provide cooking that is devised for the way we live today think a modernised version of warming farmhouse food to suit the weather and our homes fast fresh surprising dishes for midweek and slow cooking or theatre pieces shared with friends for weekends and holidays far from countering the vegan spike this is the definition of fair honest sustainable food this is meat done right a vital state of beautiful shores
