Language Narratives and Shifting Multilingual Pedagogies

2022-12-15

this book challenges monoglossic ideologies traditional language pedagogies and dominant forms of knowledge construction by foregrounding multilingual and multicultural students language narratives repertoires and identities the research is based on a sixteen year longitudinal study of a sociolinguistics course at an english language university and the language narratives produced by the first year education students the study was borne out of a need to create a critically inclusive course that would engage a cohort of students from socially and linguistically diverse backgrounds in contemporary south africa drawing on data from over 5 000 students who have journeyed through this course this book shows how a narrative heteroglossic pedagogy harnesses students multilingual strengths a close analysis reveals complex identity work by students located in the global south the authors argue that decolonising language education is about reconceptualising language reconfiguring what knowledges are valued in the classroom and reshaping pedagogy

Literary Legacies of the South African TRC

since the 1970s truth and reconciliation commissions have become increasingly popularised as options for addressing historical injustices especially within the context of dictatorial regimes of the many truth commissions to date the south african trc has been the one that has captured public attention throughout the world providing a model for subsequent truth commissions the south african trc has also constituted and still constitutes an intriguing source for writing literary legacies of the south african trc explores the capacities of fiction for providing the trc and people s testimonies with a productive afterlife for challenging definitions of trauma truth and reconciliation for inviting readers to keep the dialogue about the past open and to think actively about the strategies adopted in addressing that past and their implications in the present it explores these capabilities as evidenced in the work of a wide range of writers some known to international anglophone readers including j m coetzee and nadine gordimer some less well known including afrikaans language novelist marlene van niekerk and others from a new generation including marli roode kopano matlwa and thando mgqolozana the book aims to contribute to discourses of trauma truth telling and reconciliation from a literary perspective as well as placing emphasis on the profound interconnection between fiction history and trauma in conflict and post conflict areas such as south africa

Feminism and Modernity in Anglophone African Women's Writing

2022-07-29

this book re reads the last 60 years of anglophone african women s writing from a transnational and trans historical feminist perspective rather than postcolonial from which these texts have been traditionally interpreted such a comparative frame throws into relief patterns across time and space that make it possible to situate this writing as an integral part of women s literary history revisiting this literature in a comparative context with western women writers since the 18th century the author highlights how invocations of tradition have been used by patriarchy everywhere to subjugate women the similarities between women s struggles worldwide and the feminist imagination it produced the author argues that in the 21st century african feminism has undergone a major epistemic shift from a culturally exclusive to a relational feminism that conceptualizes african femininity through the risky opening of oneself to otherness transculturation and translation like western feminists in the 1960s contemporary african women writers are turning their attention to the female body as the prime site of women s oppression and freedom reframing feminism as a demand for universal human rights and actively shaping global discourses on gender modernity and democracy the book will be of interest to students and researchers of african literature but also feminist literary scholars and comparatists more generally

Languaging Class: Reflecting on the Linguistic Articulations of Structural Inequalities

2023-04-18

this volume explores the issue of social class from the point of view of its linguistic articulations indeed as machin and richardson 2008 stated discourses may be variously approached as often simultaneously reflecting class structures as a site of class inequalities as expressive of class identities or class consciousness and or as a constituent part of more performative class action some of the contributions that make up the volume were presented at a conference held at cagliari university italy in 2017 and responded to the call for analyses on the role of language in reflecting maintaining enacting and inculcating ideas on social class in literary and non literary texts and discourses in any cultural or linguistic setting this volume aspires to encourage scholars in disciplines and academic fields that have shied away from reflections on structural inequalities in favor of studies on ethnic gender and cultural identities in the last decades to take back on board the concept of social class and to engage with it in a novel way the variety of approaches ranging from the more traditional sociolinguistic one anthropology to literary and discourse studies and cultural settings with case studies coming from 3 continents represented in the chapters show that social class is a productive and illuminating concept for trying to re make sense of social reproduction and change
