this book analyses the habitats directive one of the most prominent piece of eu environmental legislation of the past decades seen by some as the cornerstone of europe s nature conservation policy among other measures the directive established the so called natura 2000 ecological network which covers more than 18 of the surface of the eu however despite the fact the directive was adopted over twenty years ago only 17 of the protected habitats and species in europe are being adequately protected while 10 60 of animal species remain under threat in light of the limited success and the contested nature of the habitats directive so far this book examines the successes and failures of the habitats directive from a legal and political angle the book brings together international experts to consider the application implementation and future of the habitats directive in order to assess whether the habitats directive is resilient enough to tackle biodiversity loss in the twenty first century particular emphasis is put on the legal regime attached to the natura 2000 network and its possible impact on land development and the relationship between the habitats directive and other topics including liability for ecological damage and transboundary nature conservation this book provides a new perspective on prosodically marked declaratives wh exclamatives and discourse particles in the madrid variety of spanish it argues that some marked forms differ from unmarked forms in that they encode modal evaluations of the at issue meaning two epistemic evaluations that can be shown to be encoded by intonation in spanish are obviousness and mirativity which present the at issue meaning as expected and unexpected respectively an empirical investigation via a production experiment finds that they are associated with distinct intonational features under constant focus scope with stances of disagreement showing an impact on obvious declaratives wh exclamatives are found not to differ significantly in intonational marking from neutral declaratives showing that they need not be miratives moreover we find that intonational marking on different discourse particles in natural dialogue correlates with their meaning contribution without being fully determined by it in part these findings quantitatively confirm previous qualitative findings on the meaning of intonational configurations in madrid spanish but they also add new insights on the role intonation plays in the negotiation of commitments and expectations between interlocutors
