this edited collection attends to the locations of memory along and about the indo pakistan and indo bangladesh borders and the complex ways in which such memories are both allowed for and erased in the present the collection is situated at the intersection of narratives connected to memory and commemoration in order to ask how memories have been formed and perpetuated across the imposition of these borders it explores how national boundaries both silence memories and can be subverted in important ways through consideration of physical sites and cultural practices on both sides of the india pakistan bangladesh borders that gesture towards that which has been lost that is the cultural whole that was the cultural regions of punjab and bengal before partition as well as broader cultural wholes across south asia across religious and linguistic lines alongside forces that deny such connections the chapters address issues of heritage and memory through specific case studies on present day memorial museological and commemoration practices through which sometimes competing memorial landscapes have been constructed and show how memories of past traumas and histories become inscribed into diverse forms of cultural heritage the built landscape literature film there aren't many people in history who stand out as icons of bravery valour and military prowess one such person whose astounding actions on the battlefield have forever altered the course of history is sardar hari singh nalwa nalwa a fighter of outstanding talent who was born during the turbulent sikh empire came to notoriety by leading his armies to victories that would be considered as amazing even in the face of terrible foes when we take into account the circumstances of sardar hari singh nalwa's period the importance of his accomplishments becomes even more obvious afghanistan a nation renowned for defying foreign invasions has historically resisted the power of empires such as the british empire the soviet union and the united states heritage conservation in postcolonial india seeks to position the conservation profession within historical theoretical and methodological frames to demonstrate how the field has evolved in the postcolonial decades and follow its various trajectories in research education advocacy and practice split into four sections this book covers important themes of institutional and programmatic developments in the field of conservation critical and contemporary challenges facing the profession emerging trends in practice that seek to address contemporary challenges and sustainable solutions to conservation issues the cases featured within the book elucidate the evolution of the heritage conservation profession clarifying the role of key players at the central state and local level and considering intangible minority colonial modern and vernacular heritages among others this book also showcases unique strands of conservation practice in the postcolonial decades to demonstrate the range scope and multiple avenues of development in the last seven decades an ideal read for those interested in architecture planning historic preservation urban studies and south asian studies dit boek is een literaire studie naar zuid aziatische engelstalige fictie vanaf midden jaren vijftig tot de late jaren tachtig over de afscheiding van pakistan en bangladesh van india oftewel de partitie het is een fascinerend verhaal over het ontstaan van een nieuw literair genre romanschrijvers van verschillende generaties geven hun kijk op dit beslissende moment in de zuid aziatische geschiedenis in het begin beschreven zij de catastrofe later werd er meer getheoretiseerd aan de hand van zes romans van onder andere salman rushdie laat roy zien welke factoren bepalend zijn geweest voor de grote thema's en verhaallijnen in deze romans this book is an effort to relook into the tribal heritage of india vis a vis the contemporary issues tribal groups of india in particular face the purpose of the book is to compile contemporary developments critiques and concerns regarding tribal world at one place for the convenience of readers the book is being divided into three parts namely 1 section a tribal administration and education 2 section b tribal identity women and way of life 3 section c tribal media and market this updated edition of teaching global history challenges prospective and beginning social studies teachers to formulate their own views about what is important to know in global history and why this essential text explains how to plan with activity sheets primary source documents and helpful charts graphs photographs and maps this new edition includes connections to the c3 framework updates throughout to account for the many shifts in global politics and a new chapter connecting past to present through current events and historical studies in ways that engage students and propel civic activism offering an alternative to pre packaged textbook outlines and materials this text is a powerful resource for promoting thoughtful reflection and debate on what the global history curriculum should be and how to teach it the blood laden birth pangs of the indian nation state undoubtedly had a bearing on the contentious issue of group rights for cultural minorities indeed the trajectory of the concept minority rights evolved amidst multiple conceptualizations political posturing and violent mobilizations and outbursts accommodating minority groups posed a predicament for the fledgling nation state of post colonial india this book compares and contrasts muslim and sikh communities in pre and post partition india mapping the evolving discourse on minority rights the author looks at the overlaps between the constitutional and the majoritarian discourse being articulated in the public sphere and poses questions about the guaranteeing of minority rights the book suggests that through historical ruptures and breaks communities oscillate between being minorities and nations combining archival material with ethnographic fieldwork it studies the identity groups and their vexed relationship to the ideas of nation and nationalism it captures meanings attributed to otherwise politically loaded concepts such as nation nation state and minority rights in the everyday world of muslims and sikhs and thus tries to make sense of the patterns of accommodation adaptation and contestation in the life world successfully confronting and illuminating the challenge of reconciling representation and equality both for groups and within groups this exploration of south asian nationalisms and communal relations will be of interest to academics in the field of south asian studies in particular sociology and politics sukhmani the pearl of happiness is a popular sikh text by guru arjan which inculcates the sikh religious ethos and philosophical perspective on wellbeing and happiness the book features a new translation of this celebrated sikh text and provides the first in depth analysis of it the sikh view on happiness begins with an overview of the nature of suffering and the attainment of happiness in indian religions this provides the foundation for the examination of the historical social and religious context of the sukhmani and its contribution to the development of the sikh tradition in addition to exploring the spiritual teachings of the sukhmani nayar and sandhu draw upon the sikh understanding of the mind illness and wellbeing to both introduce key sikh psychological concepts and illustrate the practical application of traditional healing practices in the contemporary context in doing so they highlight the overlap of the teachings in the sukhmani with concepts and themes found in western psychotherapy such as mindfulness meaningful living and resilience this study brings together many of the resources needed for the exploration of english historical syntax and deals with many of the important changes in english sentence structure from old english to present it also features a survey of published research from both classical and modern linguistic traditions as well as new research comprise one of the most fascinating periods in medieval history much has been written about the leading personalities bitter dynastic rivalries political intrigues and the rapid change of fortune on the battlefields of england and wales however there is one aspect that has been often overlooked the role of castles in the conflict dan spencer s original study traces the use of castles from the outbreak of civil war in the 1450s during the reign of henry vi to the triumph of henry vii some thirty years later using a wide range of narrative architectural financial and administrative sources spencer sheds new light on the place of castles within the conflict demonstrating their importance as strategic and logistical centers bases for marshaling troops and as fortresses this is a book about a longstanding network of writers and writings that celebrate the aesthetic socio political scientific ecological geographical and historical value of trees and tree spaces in the landscape and it is a study of the effect of this tree writing upon the novel form in the long nineteenth century trees in nineteenth century english fiction the silvicultural novel identifies the picturesque thinker william gilpin as a significant influence in this literary and environmental tradition remarks on forest scenery 1791 is formed by gilpin s own observations of trees forests and his new forest home specifically but it is also the product of tree stories collected from travellers and historians that came before him this study tracks the impact of this accumulating arboreal discourse upon nineteenth century environmental writers such as john claudius loudon jacob george strutt william howitt and mary roberts and its influence on varied dialogues surrounding natural history agriculture landscaping deforestation and public health building upon this concept of an ongoing silvicultural discussion the monograph examines how novelists in the realist mode engage with this discourse and use their understanding of arboreal space and its cultural worth in order to transform their own fictional environments through their novelistic framing of single trees clumps forests ancient woodlands and man made plantations jane austen elizabeth gaskell and thomas hardy feature as authors of particular interest collectively in their environmental representations these novelists engage with a broad range of silvicultural conversation in their writing of space at the beginning middle and end of the
