Transgression(s) in Twenty-First-Century Women's Writing in French 2020-11-04

the documentary imagination in twentieth century french literature identifies a documentary impulse in french literature that emerges at the end of the nineteenth century and culminates in a proliferation of factual writings in the twenty first focusing on the period bookended by these two moments it highlights the enduring concern with factual reference in texts that engage either with current events or the historical archive specifically it considers a set of ideas and practices centered on the conceptualization and use of documents in doing so it contests the widespread narrative that twentieth century french literature abandons the realist enterprise and argues that writers instead renegotiate the realist legacy outside or at the margins of the fictional space of the novel analyzing works by authors including gide breton aragon yourcenar duras and modiano the book defines a specific documentary mode of literary representation that records assembles and investigates material traces of reality the document is a textual visual or material piece of evidence repurposed through its visual insertion textual transcription or description within a literary work it is a fact but it also becomes a figure standing for literature s confrontation with the real the documentary imagination involves a fantasy of direct access to a reality that speaks for itself at the same time it gives rise to concrete textual practices that open up new directions for literature by interrogating the construction and interpretation of facts

as a textual form the essai predominates in modern and contemporary literature in french emerging from an earlier tradition and distinguished from its english language counterpart the french language essay ranges from stéphane mallarmé to colette victor segalen to aimé césaire jean grenier to pierre michon the essai remains however one of the most hazily identified of textual forms its definition often depending on the progressive elimination of all other generic possibilities excluded from the archigenres theatre poetry récit it can even be seen as a hold all category whose role is to absorb the anarchic extremes of writing it is perhaps this very lack of pretension to orthodoxy that has drawn so many writers to the essai the conventional understanding of the term as a tentative unsystematic exploration stresses the genre s provisional nature its refusal of any claims to comprehensiveness the essai exploits the devices of anecdote illustration and humour it is addressed to a wide and often general audience it is also intricately linked to the performance of ideological and writerly strategies often reordering the classical art of rhetoric and persuasion as the contributions to this volume show there is a need to outline an ethics and politics as well as poetics of essayism french prose in 2000 stems in some important measure from work presented in september 1998 at the international colloquium on french and francophone literature in the 1990 s held at dalhousie university a good number of papers given at that time and since revisited in the light of exchanges join here certain others specifically written for the purposes of this book together they constitute a wide ranging and modally varied interrogation of the current state of french and francophone prose writing its multifaceted manners its richly divergent fascinations its many theoretical or philosophical groundings the book thus ceaselessly moves its attention from fictional biography to the roman noir from the writing of glissant and chamoiseau to that of the étonnants voyageurs from the powerful discourse of women such as chawaf or condé ernaux or germain sallenave or kristeva to that of writers as diverse in their modes as le clézio and quignard duras and renaud camus all chapters focus however in near exclusive measure on the prose production of the last ten or twelve years
