The Review of Education 1897 this early work on papers of psycho analysis is both expensive and hard to find in its first edition the papers here collected have already appeared in print for the most part in psychological journals that do not circulate widely among the medical profession they constitute a selection of the authors contributions and are now issued in a more accessible form in the hope of arousing further interest in this overneglected and important branch of scientific investigation many of the earliest books particularly those dating back to the 1900s and before are now extremely scarce and increasingly expensive we are republishing these classic works in affordable high quality modern editions using the original text and artwork

The Pedagogical Seminary 1898 the purpose of this book is to present a rather simple argument parents thoughts about childrearing and the ways in which they interact with children to achieve particular parenting or developmental goals are culturally determined within any culture children are shaped by the physical and social settings within which they live culturally regulated customs and childrearing practices and culturally based belief systems the psychological meaning attributed to any given social behavior is in large part a function of the ecological niche within which it is produced clearly it is the case that there are some cultural universals all parents want their children to be healthy and to feel secure however healthy and unhealthy at least in the psychological sense of the term can have different meanings from culture to culture
