Class 6 NCERT History Mindmap ( Mind Map) (Faster Recall) (Arora IAS) 2015-02-27 in experimental practice dimitris papadopoulos explores the potential for building new forms of political and social movements through the reconfiguration of the material conditions of existence rather than targeting existing institutions in demands for social justice papadopoulos calls for the creation of alternative ontologies of everyday life that would transform the meanings of politics and justice inextricably linked to technoscience these alterontologies which papadopoulos examines in a variety of contexts from aids activism and the financialization of life to hacker communities and neuroscience form the basis of ways of life that would embrace the more than social interdependence of the human and nonhuman worlds speaking to a matrix of concerns about politics and justice social movements matter and ontology everyday practice technoscience the production of knowledge and the human and nonhuman papadopoulos suggests that the development of alterontologies would create more efficacious political and social organizing

Experimental Practice 2020-08-19 what is the origin of music in the last few decades this centuries old puzzle has been reinvigorated by new archaeological evidence and developments in the fields of cognitive science linguistics and evolutionary theory starting at a period of human prehistory long before homo sapiens or music existed tomlinson describes the incremental attainments that by changing the communication and society of prehuman species laid the foundation for musical behaviors in more recent times he traces in neandertals and early sapiens the accumulation and development of these capacities and he details their coalescence into modern musical behavior across the last hundred millennia

A Million Years of Music 2012-11-06 from cultural studies sociology media studies gender studies and elsewhere there have been a spate of books recently which have attempted to characterize the state of modernity many of these have also argued that what is required is an ethnographic work to determine how far these supposed trends actually apply to a given population this book explicitly accepts this challenge and in so doing demonstrates the potential of modern anthropology studies it starts by summarizing some debates on modernity and then argues that the caribbean island of trinidad is particularly apt for such a study given the origins of its population in slavery and indentured labour both forms of extreme social rupture the particular focus of this book is on mass consumption and the way goods and imported images such as soap opera have been used to express and develop a number of key contradictions of modernity it will be of interest to anthropologists looking for a new potential for the discipline as well as students in other fields who will be interested in the new contribution of anthropology to their debates

How to Read Texts 2003-10-21 can subjective individual taste be reconciled with an objective universal standard in homo aestheticus luc ferry argues that this central problem of aesthetic theory is fundamentally related to the political problem of democratic individualism ferry s treatise begins in the mid 1600s with the simultaneous invention of the notions of taste the essence of art as subjective pleasure and modern democracy the idea of the state as a consensus among individuals he explores the differences between subjectivity and individuality by examining aesthetic theory as developed first by kant s predecessors and then by kant hegel nietzsche and proponents of the avant garde ferry discerns two moments of the avant garde aesthetic the hyperindividualistic iconoclasm of creating something entirely new and the hyperrealistic striving to achieve an extraordinary truth the tension between these two ferry argues preserves an essential element of the enlightenment concern for reconciling the subjective and the objective a problem that is at once aesthetic ethical and political rejecting postmodern proposals for either a radical break with or return to tradition ferry embraces a postmodernism that recasts enlightenment notions of value as a new intersubjectivity his original analysis of the growth and decline of the twentieth century avant garde movement sheds new light on the connections between aesthetics ethics and political theory
