Multilingualism in the Middle Ages and Early Modern Age 2016-09-12 bi and multilingualism are of great interest for contemporary linguists since this phenomenon deeply reflects on language acquisition language use and sociolinguistic conditions in many different circumstances all over the world multilingualism was however certainly rather common already if not especially in the premodern world for some time now research has started to explore this issue through a number of specialized studies the present volume continues with the investigation of multilingualism through a collection of case studies focusing on important examples in medieval and early modern societies that is in linguistic and cultural contact zones such as england spain the holy land but also the new world as all contributors confirm the numerous cases of multilingualism discussed here indicate strongly that the premodern period knew considerably less barriers between people of different social classes cultural background and religious orientation but we also have to acknowledge that already then human communication could fail because of linguistic hurdles which prevented mutual understanding in religious and cultural terms

The Listeners 2022-03-22 they ve been listening for longer than you think a new history reveals how and why wiretapping is nearly as old as electronic communications telegraph operators intercepted enemy messages during the civil war law enforcement agencies were listening to private telephone calls as early as 1895 communications firms have assisted government eavesdropping programs since the early twentieth century and they have spied on their own customers too such breaches of privacy once provoked outrage but today most americans have resigned themselves to constant electronic monitoring how did we get from there to here in the listeners brian hochman shows how the wiretap

Blackboards and Bootstraps 2014-02-05 blackboards and bootstraps revisioning education and schooling contributes to an international conversation about public education that in recent decades has been attenuated if not silenced by advocates of neoliberalism marketisation and neocorporatism written for a wide audience this book is not a manifesto for the twenty first century it is more of an invitation than a blueprint in drawing a distinction between education and schooling it identifies recovers and explores many ideas about education and schooling that are no less important to the practice of the present than they were to the pedagogues of the past the introduction questions the role of schooling in the future trajectory of spaceship earth the remainder of the book considers these questions by revisiting a range of ideas that underpin current practice it launches itself by returning to the sixteenth century a time when the organisation and conduct of modern schooling took shape around a new set of terms syllabus class curriculum and didactics that in their latin forms not only became prominent in the international educational lexicon but also survived into the twentieth century by the first world war there was an international awareness that schooling is not the same as education schooling originally for the land owning mercantile and commercial elites of the sixteenth century had only partially engaged with the visions of democratic schooling voiced in the eighteenth century enlightenment and the subsequent extension of suffrage and national and sexual liberation movements impressed by the universalistic achievements of the renaissance and the enlightenment the authors raise the prospect of a new educational humanism in the globalised world of the twenty first century

Women's Cinema in Contemporary Portugal 2020-03-05 women s cinema in contemporary portugal brings together scholars from portugal uk and the usa to discuss 14 women film directors in portugal focussing on their production in both feature film and documentary genres over the last half century it charts the specific cinematic visions that these women have brought to the re emergence of portuguese national cinema in the wake of the 1974 revolution and african decolonisation and to the growing internationalisation of portugal s arguably minor or small nation cinema with significant young women directors such as leonor teles achieving prominence abroad the history of portuguese women s cinema only begins systematically after the 1974 revolution and democratisation this collection shows how female auteurs made their mark on portugal s post revolutionary conceptualisation of a differently national cinema through the ethnographic output of the late 1970s it goes on to explore women s decisively gendered interventions in the cinematic memory practices that opened up around the masculine domain of the colonial wars in africa feminist political issues such as portugal s 30 year abortion campaign and lgbt status have become more visible since the 1990s alongside preoccupations with global concerns relating to immigration transit and minority status communities the book also demonstrates how women have contributed to the evolution of soundscapes the genre of essay cinema film s relationship to the archive and the adaptation of the written word the result is a powerful provocative and definitive challenge to the marginalisation of portuguese female directed film in terms of double minority

Poems Chiefly from Manuscript 2015-12-01 though he was largely overlooked during his own lifetime british poet john clare is now recognized by critics as one of the most significant writers of his generation unlike most of the other poets who rose to acclaim during the nineteenth century clare came from a humble working class family and brought a unique sensibility to his work as a result this collection brings together an array of clare s poems some of which were previously unpublished
