the book explores the issue of non humans and their role and position within contemporary social sciences inspired by current trends of bridging the dichotomy of nature and culture the authors use the non human as a prism that offers a different perspective of the world society culture and last but not least being s to start paying attention to non humans has the potential to hybridize social sciences and in turn enrich them as well as to offer social scientists novel perspectives and tools to approach social phenomena such an attitude might in turn lead to a reassessment of understanding of the relationship between the world and being and of the categories of being and subject hence the potential of non humans to stimulate an ontological shift within social sciences the view of the human and non human as oppositional categories is a remnant of essentially modernist thinking this book represents a response in terms of an attempt to think about humans and non humans outside of the binary division the authors thus want to contribute to the hybridization of social sciences and throughout the book they deal with ontological epistemological and thematical shifts stemming from the hybridization if the non human does not exist as a negation the boundary between the two becomes unclear and overlapping it is with this hybridization the blurring of the boundaries that we are able to come closer to those who inhabit the world non humans and humans alike popular media art and science are intricately interlinked in contemporary visual culture this book analyses the scientific imaginary that is the result of the profound effects of science upon the imagination and conversely of the imagination in and upon science as scientific developments in genetics occur and information technology and cybernetics open up new possibilities of intervention in human lives cultural theorists have explored the notion of the posthuman the scientific imaginary in visual culture analyses figurations of the posthuman in history and philosophy as well as in its utopian and dystopian forms in art and popular culture the authors thus address the blurring boundaries between art and science in diverse media like science fiction film futurist art video art and the new phenomenon of bio art in their evaluations of the scientific imaginary in visual culture the authors engage critically with current scientific and technological concerns in recent years evidence based medicine ebm clinical governance and professional accountability have become increasingly significant in shaping the organisation and delivery of healthcare however these notions all build upon and exemplify the idea of human centred individual action in this book dawn goodwin suggests that such models of practice exaggerate the extent to which practitioners are able to predict and control the circumstances and contingencies of healthcare drawing on ethnographic material goodwin explores the way that action unfolds in a series of empirical cases of anaesthetic and intensive care practice anaesthesia configures a relationship between humans machines and devices that transforms and redistributes capacities for action and thereby challenges the figure of a rational intentional acting individual this book elucidates the ways in which various entities machines tools devices and unconscious patients as well as healthcare practitioners participate and how actions become legitimate and accountable this is the first cross over book into the history of science written by an historian of economics it shows how history of technology can be integrated with the history of economic ideas the analysis combines cold war history with the history of postwar economics in america and later elsewhere revealing that the pax americana had much to do with abstruse and formal doctrines such as linear programming and game theory it links the literature on cyborg to economics an element missing in literature to date the treatment further calls into question the idea that economics has been immune to postmodern currents arguing that neoclassical economics has participated in the deconstruction of the integral self finally it argues for an alliance of computational and institutional themes and challenges the widespread impression that there is nothing else besides american neoclassical economic theory left standing after the demise of marxism in his 1978 book nelson goodman coined the term worldmaking the new materialistic approach to the potential for meaning of extra human materiality and its multidimensional entanglements and the intraconnectedness shifts the concept of world making into new perspectives of interpretation in the categories of karen barad s agential realism it applies to practices of knowledge production and to a diffractive re configuration of the world s matter and its meaning world making gains a further specific expression in donna haraway s concept of worlding which shows the intraactive entanglement of matter substance meaning storytelling and thinking on the fundamental level of the polysemic linguistic tissue itself
