i wanted to share a little bit of my life with the members of the united states armed forces and civilian employees in the united states and around the globe supporting those who serve it s important to understand what role we as civilians play in the overall objective of the mission i ve had both an honor and privilege in getting to know the many service members i ve encountered thanks to the multiple installations i ve served under as i reflect on all of my memories i believe that it would not have been possible for my success within my career field if it were not for all of the support and mentoring i have received throughout my life working alongside our service members it is my hope that many other civilian employees realize their true potential in whatever role they play within their programs mothers of the military examines the distinctive kinds of support required during an increasingly privatized war specifically material moral and healthcare support mothers are a particularly key part of the current support system for service members and wendy christensen follows the mothers of u s service members in the war on terrorism through the stages of recruitment deployment and post deployment bringing to light the experiences and stories of women who are largely invisible during war the mothers of service members over 2 5 million members of the u s military have deployed to iraq or afghanistan during the now 16 year long war each service member has loved ones spouses parents and children who provide necessary emotional and physical support during deployment this book has three goals the first is to make mothers experiences during wartime visible the second is to interrogate what support means during war finally it examines the impact of war support on mothers political participation ideally civilians provide moral approval of war patriotism and extend understanding and appreciation of the sacrifice enlistees and their families are making but in these long wars public and political approval has plummeted it is not surprising this narrow slice of americans dealing with the daily realities of war feels increasingly separate from civilians military families are isolated from those americans who are able to ignore the war or offer superficial expressions of patriotic gratitude mothers occupy a complex gendered location during wartime even though women are now serving in combat positions women have historically held down the home front where family labor is still assigned disproportionately to women however the military does not treat mothers and fathers equally the military assumes fathers will be supportive of service and calls on them to be proud of the courageous decision their child has made they consider mothers on the other hand potential impediments to service not wanting their child in harm s way through each stage of service mothers take on different kinds of support for their child for the military and for war policy at each stage of war mothers are prescribed a gendered support position in recruitment material the military assumes mothers will be emotional and worried about enlistment so they appeal to mother s love and need for their child to be safe during deployment mothers provide supplies and moral support declining enlistment numbers and a long war have led to multiple deployments and unprecedented burdens on military families these mothers step in to help with childcare and finances furthermore mothers are overwhelmingly according to military studies the ones providing mental and physical healthcare when veterans need it as providers of critical systems of war support mothers bear much of the burden of the current wars war provides mothers a way to participate in the national project but the uneven burden of being a constant supporter further marginalizes their citizenship the gendered support role the military designs for mothers is not designed to facilitate active democratic citizenship but rather to make it seem natural that they too fall in line with the chain of command mothers of the military as a whole asks how the acts of supplying material moral and medical support end up so often marginalizing mothers as citizens from the political process and under what conditions do mothers resist ernie pyle s writings about soldiers during world war ii were always an inspiration during my career as a feature broadcaster and writer full of flavor about gi life i followed mr pyle s example of accompanying soldiers during training and participating as much as possible this magic formula never failed to promote understanding and appreciation of the demands and sacrifice of soldier life hearing first hand accounts of the pearl harbor attack and the doolittle raid that followed walking along the water s edge at omaha and utah beaches with wwii soldiers who stormed the shores on june 6 1944 and accompanying paratroopers to towns like sainte mere elise where they parachuted in the night before and exploring other memorable accounts such as prisoners of war considerably deepened my appreciation and admiration for the greatest generation applying the same ernie pyle writing strategy made all the difference in writing about them
