in classical china crafted artifacts offered a material substrate for abstract thought as graphic paradigms for social relationships focusing on the fifth to second centuries b c martin powers explores how these paradigms continued to inform social thought long after the material substrate had been abandoned in this detailed study the author makes the claim that artifacts are never neutral as a distinctive possession each object through the abstracting function of style offers a material template for scales of value likewise through style pictorial forms can make claims about material referents the things depicted by manipulating these scales and their referents artifacts can shape the way status social role or identity is understood and enforced the result is a kind of spatial epistemology within which the identities of persons are constructed powers thereby posits a relationship between art and society that operates at a level deeper than iconography attributes or social institutions historically pattern and person traces the evolution of personhood in china from a condition of hereditary status to one of achieved social role and greater personal choice this latter development essential for bureaucratic organization and individual achievement challenges the conventional opposition between western individuals and collective asians

Progress and Values in the Humanities 2010

money and support tend to flow in the direction of economics science and other academic departments that demonstrate measurable progress the humanities on the other hand offer more abstract and uncertain outcomes a humanist's objects of study are more obscure in certain ways than pathogens and cells consequently it seems as if the humanities never truly progress is this a fair assessment by comparing objects of science such as the brain the galaxy the amoeba and the quark with objects of humanistic inquiry such as the poem the photograph the belief and the philosophical concept volney gay reestablishes a fundamental distinction between science and the humanities he frees the latter from its pursuit of material based progress and restores its disciplines to a place of privilege and respect using the metaphor of magnification gay shows that while we can investigate natural objects to the limits of imaging capacity magnifying cultural objects dissolves them into noise in other words cultural objects can be studied only within their contexts and through the prism of metaphor and narrative gathering examples from literature art film philosophy religion science and psychoanalysis gay builds a new justification for the humanities by revealing the unseen and making abstract ideas tangible the arts create meaningful wholes which itself is a form of progress
