in her number one bestseller you just don't understand deborah tannen showed why talking to someone of the other sex can be like talking to someone from another world her bestseller talking from 9 to 5 did for workplace communication what you just don't understand did for personal relationships now tannen is back with another groundbreaking book this time widening her lens to examine the way we communicate in public in the media in politics in our courtrooms and classrooms once again letting us see in a new way forces that have been powerfully shaping our lives the argument culture is about a pervasive warlike atmosphere that makes us approach anything we need to accomplish as a fight between two opposing sides the argument culture urges us to regard the world and the people in it in an adversarial frame of mind it rests on the assumption that opposition is the best way to get anything done the best way to explore an idea is to set up a debate the best way to cover the news is to find spokespeople who express the most extreme polarized views and present them as both sides the best way to settle disputes is litigation that pits one party against the other the best way to begin an essay is to oppose someone and the best way to show you're really thinking is to criticize and attack sometimes these approaches work well but often they create more problems than they solve our public encounters have become more and more like having an argument with a spouse you're not trying to understand what the other person is saying you're just trying to win the argument but just as spouses have to learn ways of settling differences without inflicting real damage on each other so we as a society have to find constructive and creative ways of resolving disputes and differences public discussions require making an argument for a point of view not having an argument as in having a fight the war on drugs the war on cancer the battle of the sexes politicians turf battles in the argument culture war metaphors pervade our talk and shape our thinking tannen shows how deeply entrenched this cultural tendency is the forms it takes and how it affects us every day sometimes in useful ways but often causing rather than avoiding damage in the argument culture the quality of information we receive is compromised and our spirits are corroded by living in an atmosphere of unrelenting contention tannen explores the roots of the argument culture the role played by gender and how other cultures suggest alternative ways to negotiate disagreement and mediate conflicts and make things better in public and in private wherever people are trying to resolve differences and get things done the argument culture is a remarkable book that will change forever the way you perceive the world you will listen to our public voices in a whole new way timely and resonant the argument chronicles the arc of a relationship between a man and a woman with bracing humor passion and fury what happens when two people who say they love each other fight over something so precious that they reach a point of no return while the argument structure of verbs has long been a central issue in linguistic research of all varieties and continues to be a vexed area of research across a wide range of theoretical and empirical approaches the inter disciplinary perspective and dialogue remain largely under explored this collection stems from an interest to find and explore practical tangible points of intersection between theoretical linguists psycholinguists and neurolinguists working on problems related to the representation and processing of verbs and their associated thematic structure the book is organized around three core themes i the basic building blocks of verbal representations and modes of construction of the verb argument complex ii non canonical argument structure realization with a particular focus on object experiencer psych verbs and iii the promises and challenges of neurolinguistic and psycholinguistic investigation into argument structure and the prospects for the future of interdisciplinary research on verb argument structure building arguments offers a fresh new approach to informal logic successfully combining an accessible style with a rigorous systematic treatment of argument it integrates reasoning and writing teaching readers to argue effectively and communicate ideas in persuasive prose it combines fundamental topics of critical thinking into broader discussions of reasoning so where other books may treat fallacy identification and avoidance induction and deduction and validity and soundness as ends in themselves building arguments presents these topics in a practical yet philosophically sound context it includes entertaining and relevant examples and exercises drawn from sports popular advertising current events and many academic areas building arguments is unique in its emphasis on helping readers to develop their own persuasive arguments as well as to evaluate arguments from other sources using a writing level and organization guided by the principles of reading development the author introduces material gradually moving from a very accessible level to a more rigorous one the result a book unique in its ability to foster philosophically based argument analysis while promoting reasoning and writing skills across the curriculum these nine essays commissioned on the initiative of the philosophy section of the british academy address fundamental questions about time in philosophy physics linguistics and psychology are there facts about the future could we affect the past in physics general relativity and quantum theory give contradictory treatments of time so in the current search for a theory of quantum gravity which should give way general relativity or quantum theory in linguistics and psychology how does our language represent time and how do our minds keep track of it this book is a collection of articles dealing with various aspects of grammatical relations and argument structure in the languages of europe and north and central asia lenca topics covered with respect to individual languages are split intransitivity basque causativization agul transitives and causatives korean and japanese aspectual domain and quantification finnish and udmurt head marking principles athabaskan languages and pragmatics eastern khanty and xibe typology of argument structure properties of give lenca typology of agreement systems asymmetry in argument structure typology of the amdo sprachbund spatial realtors northeastern turkic core argument patterns languages of northern california and typology of grammatical relations lenca are the topics of articles based on cross linguistic data the broad empirical sweep and the fine tuned theoretical analysis highlight the central role of argument structure and grammatical relations with respect to a plethora of linguistic phenomena many theorists have addressed a central concern of current political theory by contending that the dithering intellectualism of left politics prevents genuine political action arguments and fists confronts this concern by refuting these arguments and reconciling philosophical debates with the realities of current activism by looking at theorists such as montesquieu kant rousseau the book contradicts current academic debates and also goes against contemporary theory s image of the liberal political agent as a narrowly rational abstraction mika lavaque manty also argues that progressive political philosophy and political action go hand in hand he then ventures past kant and rousseau to talk about specific environmental activism finding middle ground between the two while asserting that the liberal urge for political reform stems from sound philosophical considerations about the nature of politics and isn t the cowardly afterthoughts some theorists have called it arguments and fists then puts these theoretical insights to use examining environmental justice movements and varieties of environmental radicalism showing how liberal theory illuminates concrete contemporary political practices argumentation is often understood as a coherent set of western theories birthed in athens and developing throughout the roman period the middle ages the enlightenment and renaissance and into the present century ideas have been nuanced developed and revised but still the outline of argumentation theory has been recognizable for centuries or so it has seemed to western scholars the 2019 alta conference on argumentation co sponsored by the national communication association and the american forensic association aimed to question the generality of these intellectual traditions this resulting collection of essays deals with the possibility of having local theories of argument local to a particular time a particular kind of issue a particular place or a particular culture many of the papers argue for reconsidering basic ideas about arguing to represent the uniqueness of some moment or location of discourse other scholars are more comfortable with the western traditions and find them congenial to the analysis of arguments that originate in discernibly distinct circumstances the papers represent different methodologies cover the experiences of different nations at different times examine varying sorts of argumentative events speeches court decisions food choices and sound explore particular personal identities and the issues highlighted by them and have different overall orientations to doing argumentation scholarship considered together the essays do not generate one simple conclusion but they stimulate reflection about the particularity or generality of the experience of arguing and therefore the scope of our theories while there are languages that code a particular grammatical role e g subject or direct object in one and the same way across the board many more languages code the same grammatical roles differentially the variables which condition the differential argument marking or dam pertain to various properties of the np such as animacy or definiteness or to event semantics or various properties of the clause while the main line of current research on dam is mainly synchronic the volume tackles the diachronic perspective the tenet is that the emergence and the development of differential marking systems provide a different kind of evidence for the understanding of the phenomenon the present volume consists of 18 chapters and primarily brings together diachronic case studies on particular languages or language groups including e g finno ugric sino tibetan and japonic languages the volume also includes a position paper which provides an overview of the typology of different subtypes of dam systems a chapter on computer simulation of the emergence of dam and a chapter devoted to the cross linguistic effects of referential hierarchies on dam this book brings together essays by one of the pre eminent scholars of informal logic this monograph discusses scalar verb classes it tests theories of linguistic form and meaning arguments and thematic roles using estonian data the analyses help to understand the aspectual structure of estonian in estonian transitive verbs fall into aspectual classes based on the type of case marking of objects and adjuncts the book relates the morphosyntactic frames of verbs to properties typically associated with adjectives and nouns scalarity and boundedness verbs are divided according to how their aspect is composed some verbs lexicalize a scale which can be bounded either lexically or compositionally aspectual composition involves the unification of features compositionally derived structures differ according to which of the aspectually relevant dimensions are bounded the investigation of computational models of argument is a rich and fascinating interdisciplinary research field with two ultimate aims the theoretical goal of understanding argumentation as a cognitive phenomenon by modeling it in computer programs and the practical goal of supporting the development of computer based systems able to engage in argumentation related activities with human users or among themselves the biennial international conferences on computational models of argument comma provide a dedicated forum for the presentation and discussion of the latest advancements in the field and cover both basic research and innovative applications this book presents the proceedings of comma 2020 due to the covid 19 pandemic comma 2020 was held as an online event on the originally scheduled dates of 8 11 september 2020 organised by the university of perugia italy the book includes 28 full papers and 13 short papers selected from a total of 78 submissions the abstracts of 3 invited talks and 13 demonstration abstracts the interdisciplinary nature of the field is reflected and contributions cover both theory and practice theoretical contributions include new formal models the study of formal or computational properties of models designs for implemented systems and experimental research practical papers include applications to medicine law and criminal investigation chatbots and online product reviews the argument mining trend from previous comma s is continued while an emerging trend this year is the use of argumentation for explainable ai the book provided an overview of the latest work on computational models of argument and will be of interest to all those working in the field the primary focus of the updated second edition has not changed it embraces the narrative or storytelling approach to the study of argumentation the first section introduces readers to rhetorical theorists and their principles these significant contributions to the field of argumentation and debate include aristotles views on audiences and the ethical character of an advocate burkes dramatisitic theory of communication brockriedes metaphorical image of arguers fishers narrative paradigm mills guidelines for testing the causal correlation perelman and obrechts tytecas conception of a universal audience rokeachs definition of values and toulmins model for developing and analyzing argument claims and his conception of arguments as field dependent hollihan and baaskes discussions of these ideas and their applications are easy to follow unencumbered by technical jargon and illustrated with engaging examples drawn from current and well known historical events the key to the success of this text is the authors ability to show readers how foundational principles of argumentation are used in a variety of real world situations the second section covers specialized contexts such as academic debates courts of law politics business and organizations and interpersonal relationships activities that stimulate critical thinking and the implementation of the ideas discussed are provided this book contains 14 articles by teun hoekstra 1953 1998 on core issues in syntactic theory some articles focus on the structure of dp others on the structure of the sentence as a whole while others still deal explicitly with the parallels between the two the papers are distributed over four sections argument structure t chains the morpho syntax of verbal and nominal projections and small clauses more than half of the articles in this book are published here for the first time or appear for the first time in english hoekstra s work is characterized by a fundamental interest in the central questions of syntactic theory most notably the relation between argument structure and x bar structure this concentrated interest led to a deep understanding of the notion of transitivity with respect to both the status of the external argument and that of the internal argument where status refers to both the content and the licensing in this collection of papers hoekstra reports on his insights in these matters as far as content and licensing of the external argument is concerned this collection contains papers on the relation between passives and their active counterparts the parallels between possessives and transitives and the differences and similarities between past participles and infinitives as to the internal argument we find papers addressing sentential complementation verbal affixation and resultatives and there is a whole section on tense and its role in keeping the sentence together one of the papers in this collection is hoekstra s classic but hitherto unpublished small clauses everywhere more than 70 pages which summarizes hoekstra s views on such issues as resultatives particle verbs and double object constructions

Dialectics and the Macrostructure of Arguments
