this book the first historical sociology of its kind concerning bangladesh examines the country s what went wrong syndrome during the first fifty years of its existence 1971 2021 the work is an exception to the traditional studies on modern and contemporary bangladesh the study is also a post history of united pakistan busting several myths it sheds light on many known and unknown facts about the history politics society and culture of the country besides being a twice born country liberated twice from the british in 1947 and from west pakistanis in 1971 it is also an artificial entity suffering from acute crises of culture development governance and identity hashmi attributes the culture and identity crises to the demographic byproducts of bad governance in addition to being overpopulated bangladesh is also resource poor and has one of the most unskilled populations largely lumpen elements and peasants according to marx these people represent the unchanging remnants of the past the second round of independence empowered these lumpen classes who suffer from an identity crisis and never learn the art of governance the proliferation of pseudo history about liberation has further divided the polity between the two warring tribes who only glorify their respective idols mujib and zia pre political and pre capitalist peasants lumpen elements lack of mutual trust and respect have further plagued bangladesh turning it into one of the least governable corrupt and inefficient countries it is essential to replace the pre capitalist order of the country run by multiple lumpen classes with capitalist and inclusive institutions excerpt from fifty years of a londoner s life if this book and its author make the same appeal to the public as they do to me then this certainly will be one of the books of the year as to the author i have known him for nearly a quarter of a century he was once my colleague and a more energetic competent trained journalist i have never met nor a more loyal and steadfast friend his book is an epitome of the side of journalistic work to which he has devoted most of his professional life though not all for mr hibbert belongs to the same old fashioned school of journalists as myself who had to go through the severe mill and to turn their hands to everything that turned up from an execution to a grand opera but the subject that has attracted his attention more than any other is the stage for many years he spent some hours of every night of the year in some form or other of a theatre or a music hall i believe he is one of the men who would prefer if stranded in a small town going to a penny gaff rather than remain amid the futile gossip of a smoke room this passion for the play is due to an inexhaustible interest in the many forms of art which the stage presents and to an equally inexhaustible interest in the multiform and often thrilling drama that goes on within a play namely the men and women behind the scenes about the publisher forgotten books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books find more at forgottenbooks.com this book is a reproduction of an important historical work forgotten books uses state of the art technology to digitally reconstruct the work preserving the original format whilst repairing imperfections present in the aged copy in rare cases an imperfection in the original such as a blemish or missing page may be replicated in our edition we do however repair the vast majority of imperfections successfully any imperfections that remain are intentionally left to preserve the state of such historical works
