the central thesis of lawrence hogue s book is that criticism of afro american literature has left out of account the way in which ideological pressures dictate the canon this fresh approach to the study of the social ideological and political dynamics of the afro american literary text in the twentieth century based on the Foucauldian concept of literature as social institution examines the universalization that power effects how literary texts are appropriated to meet ideological concerns and needs and the continued oppression of dissenting voices Hogue presents an illuminating discussion of the publication and review history of major and neglected texts he illustrates the acceptance of texts as exotica as sociological documents or as carriers of sufficient literary conventions to receive approbation although the sixties movement allowed the text to move to the periphery of the dominant ideology providing some new myths about the Afro American historical past this marginal position was subsequently sabotaged co-opted or appropriated afros became a fad presidents gave the soul handshake the hip talking black was dressing one style and talking another this study includes extended discussion of four works Ernest J Gaines's The Autobiography of Miss Jane Pittman Alice Walker's The Third Life of Grange Copeland Albert Murray's Train Whistle Guitar and Toni Morrison's Sula Hogue assesses the informing worldviews of each and the extent and nature of their acceptance by the dominant American cultural apparatus this last small group of Bernard's sermons to be published in translation by Cistercian Publications rightly goes by the title De Varii in the critical edition while most of them treat feasts on the church calendar they do so in a somewhat hit or miss fashion three sermons also deal with God's will God's mercies and the gifts of the Holy Spirit two sermons for the feast of Saint Victor are a response to a request to Bernard from the monks of Montieramey the Bollandist life of Saint Victor appears here as a complement to those sermons besides the nine sermons normally assigned to the De Varii this volume also includes a sermon on the feast of Saint Benedict that was recently added to the collection in Sources Chrétiennes the survival of this loose assemblage of sermons outside of the organized collections of Bernard's sermons provides a reminder of Bernard as preacher and writer able despite all his other activities to turn his hand to preaching when called upon while they treat of disparate themes they allow us to encounter the quintessential Bernard speaking of the life of desire the true meaning of holiness and the awakening of the spiritual senses in the search for God
