the burial tumulus of lofkend lies in one of the richest archaeological areas of albania ancient illyria home to a number of burial tumuli spanning the bronze and iron ages of later prehistory some were robbed long ago others were reused for modern burials few were excavated under scientific conditions modern understanding of the pre and protohistory of illyria has largely been shaped by the contents of such burial mounds what inspired the systematic exploration of lofkend by ucla was more than the promise of an un plundered necropolis it was also a chance to revisit the significance of this tumulus and its fellows for the emergence of urbanism and complexity in ancient illyria in addition to artifacts the recovery of surviving plant remains bones and other organic material contribute insights into the environmental and ecological history of the region
