the paintings of henri rousseau 1844 1910 particularly his astonishing jungle dreams are now so popular that it is difficult to realize how they were originally greeted with ridicule and incomprehension it was not until rousseau was championed by the young avant garde picasso delaunay and kandinsky among others that he came to be recognized at his true worth one of the most significant of these early admirers was the dealer and art historian wilhelm uhde it was uhde who put on the first one man show of rousseau s work and the catalogue he wrote for the occasion is the basis of these recollections much of what we know about rousseau comes from these pages which present a portrayal of a man of naivety humor gentleness and total artistic commitment uhde returned to his text again and again refining it and filling out telling details the version presented here is the final definitive text which first appeared after world war i in a translation overseen by uhde himself an introduction by nancy ireson sets the recollections in context with an overview of rousseau s career the ebb and flow of his reputation and the part that this polemic and elegiac text played in the creation of a new kind of art

the post impressionist period was one of solitary painters gauguin sisley cézanne van gogh etc there is no longer a unique school there are a few groups but even they break up constantly all these movements remind me of moving geometrical pieces in a kaleidoscope which separate suddenly only to better come together again they move apart then get together but nevertheless stay in the same circle the circle of the new art emile verhaeren nathalia brodskaja curator at the state hermitage museum describes with her own unsurpassed talent the different paths taken by the heirs of impressionism towards modern art

Rousseau

impressionism is the most famous artistic movement but what appears today as a charming and exquisite landscape painting was actually one of the first avant garde movements whose members had decided to fight the values of traditional art the impressionist outdoor paintings shocked the public by the technique used but also by their apparent banality as monet sisley pissarro and many others sought to capture the ephemeral nature of light the next generation would reject naturalism indeed post impressionists such as gauguin van gogh cézanne and seurat favored the subjective rather than the objective and the eternal rather than the concrete in doing so they laid the formal foundations of 20th century modern art this book is a visual guide through the crucial moments in the history of art and the progression of the 19th century to modernity
