Aim for Jobs 2004 the third international conference on hybrid learning. ICHL 2010 was organized by the School of Continuing and Professional Studies of the Chinese University of Hong Kong, Beijing Normal University, Goethe Institut China, Caritas Francis Hsu College, and Caritas Bianchi College of Careers. ICHL 2010 provided a platform for knowledge exchange on hybrid learning among educators, researchers, and computer scientists who share a common goal to enhance the quality of learning and teaching in this fast-changing knowledge world with the support of technology innovation. Hybrid learning has been an ongoing trend for a number of years; it is not merely a simple combination of face-to-face and technology-mediated instruction but also encompasses different learning strategies for teaching and learning. It places emphasis on outcome-based teaching and learning and provides a diversified learning environment. Hybrid learning is probably the most efficient learning mode in the present age of globalization when learning has to be borderless and dynamic in order to address the diverse learning needs of students. Students are given more opportunities to develop into active, independent learners and to practice practical skills for work and study. It was our pleasure to have three keynote speakers for the ICHL 2010: they were Rebecca Launer from Goethe Institut Germany, Bebo White from Stanford University, and Yan Ji Chang from Tsinghua University, all of whom shared with us their valuable insights in the hybrid learning field.

Helping Adults with Asperger's Syndrome Get & Stay Hired 2013-01-28. Practicing oral history to connect university to community illustrates best practices for using oral histories to foster a closer relationship between institutions of higher learning and the communities in which they are located. Using case studies, the book describes how to plan and execute an oral history project that can help break down walls and bring together universities and their surrounding communities. It offers advice on how to locate funding sources, disseminate information about the results of a project, ensure the long-term preservation of the oral histories collected, and incorporate oral history into the classroom, bringing together town and gown. The book demonstrates how different communities can work together to discover new research opportunities and methods for preserving history, supported by examples, sample forms, and online resources. The book is an important resource both for oral historians and those working to improve relationships between university institutions and their neighboring communities.

The Student EQ Edge 2010-08-12. By 2020, half of the world's population and most university students will have a supercomputer in their pockets. This revolution will affect the way students respond to higher education. The university classroom must henceforth engage students and the classic lecture format alone might not be enough to do so this book answers the question how university students can learn in the classroom what they cannot learn in any other way the answer is inspired by options that are not available to political scientists in the way that they are in the laboratories for the sciences in the performances for the live arts and in the studios for visual arts as well as ideas that are already present but not widespread in the discipline problem solving and case studies as in the professional schools and simulation exercises in many other disciplines this book proposes therefore an active pedagogy for political science at a time when active pedagogy is more important than ever prof lauree paquette phd has been a visiting researcher or professor in 23 countries she has advised several foreign governments as well as her own canada and has published extensively in four languages this is her sixteenth book
