this is an important collection and starting point for the worthy goal of promoting a better understanding of the past that makes it less able to be manipulated for contemporary political and religious aims compiled out of the european past its aim of a better understanding of traditional values ought to be useful for contemporary cultures and for the work of scholars of all cultures and continents renaissance quarterly in the last decade or so many books have been devoted to the history of europe two conceptual axes predominate in a large number of these accounts a discourse focusing on europe s values and another discourse fashioned largely in opposition to the first which emphasizes the process of european construction the first conceives of europe s past teleologically as a process by which certain values christian ethics individualism capitalism tolerance republicanism due process etc were affirmed and came to define european culture the second approach rejects the discourse on values emphasizes the post enlightenment emergence of the concept of europe and the political and ideological implications in its continuous redefinitions and re elaborations during the past two or more centuries this volume offers new approaches that integrate the long temporal dimension of the values based approach albeit devoid of its teleological element with the constructivist interpretation

The Travels of Theodore Ducas [pseud.] in Various Countries in Europe, at the Revival of Letters and Art 1822

this is the first book to treat bombing during wwii as a european phenomenon and not just the blitz on britain and germany with western europe now at the heart of a united continent it is even more difficult to explain how only 70 years ago european states destroyed much of the urban landscape from the air there were many blitzes between 1940 and 1945 with an estimated 700 000 people killed the purpose of this book is to provide the basis for a comparison of the experience of western states under the impact of bombing in particular it considers the political cultural and social responses to bombing rather than the military strategic and social dimensions which have formed the core of the discussion hitherto this book will correct the popular perception of the british blitz as the key bombing experience by exposing the reality of life under the bombs for communities as far apart as brest palermo and rostock an international panel of historians consider the issues raised amidst the bombing of human rights and protection of civilians in this seminal event in c20th history
