The Criminal Finances Act 2017 2018-10-31 this monograph looks at how tax is intertwined with constitutional law and the state in the uk it looks at a variety of topics including tax devolution scrutiny and reform of tax legislation the protection of taxpayers and the domestic legal processing of international rules and problems tax law state building and the constitution presents and interrogates five key claims first there is a clear overlap between the concerns of tax and constitutional lawyers secondly the tax system is being deeply affected by the fast pace of constitutional change thirdly decisions taken in the tax field are likely to have a reverse influence on the evolution of the constitution fourthly these relationships are heavily context dependent with tax making all the difference to some ongoing constitutional controversies whilst having very little to do with others fifthly by acknowledging tax as an important moving part within the contemporary constitution we might understand both tax and constitutional law a little better the book therefore contributes to deeper theoretical debates on the identity of tax law as a discipline the relevance of tax to public lawyers the meaning of state building in the recent history of a developed country and the importance of public finances to a wider sense of what is going on these are questions that ought to command the attention of tax and constitutional law academics as well as policy makers and reformers

Tiley's Revenue Law 2019-08-22 this book advances a real entity theory of company law in which the company is a legal entity which acts autonomously in law and company law establishes procedures facilitating autonomous organisational decision making the theory builds on the insight that organisations or firms are a social phenomenon outside of the law and that these are autonomous actors in their own right they are more than the sum of the contributions of their participants and they act independently of the views and interests of their participants this occurs because human beings

change their behaviour when they act as members of a group or an organisation in a group we tend to develop and conform to a shared standard and when we act in organisations habits routines processes and procedures form and a culture emerges these take on a life of their own affecting the behaviour of the participants participants can affect organisational behaviour but this takes time and effort company law finds this phenomenon and supplies it with a structure supporting autonomous action by organisations the real entity theory advanced in this book explains company law as it stands at a positive level legal personality overcomes the problems that organisations are social rather than brute facts and that there is no unique physical manifestation permanently associated with an organisation the corporate constitution is not a contract it is best characterised as an instrument adopted on a statutory basis through private action shareholders cannot limit the capacity of companies or the authority of the board to bind the company in contract and companies are liable in tort and crime the statute creates roles for shareholders directors a company secretary and auditors and so facilitates a process leading to organisational action the law also integrates the interests of creditors and stakeholders
