Translational Medicine 2021-11-26 this book offers an overview of the interface between european integration transatlantic relations and the rise of the rest in the early 21st century the collapse of the soviet bloc opened up an era in which the drivers and perceived benefits of the us alliance among european countries have become more variegated and shifting the proposition that the us remains at once an indispensable and intolerable nation in europe is a key concept in the alliance as the us remains inextricably tied to the continent through economic military and cultural links this work examines this complex subject area from many angles including an analysis of the historical and cultural contexts of america s relations with europe as well as a discussion of the politics of transatlantic affairs which utilises evidence gleaned from a series of case studies in the concluding chapters the author assesses the likelihood that the west can entrench its global dominance in the realms of soft and hard power and by effecting a controlled reform that will see multilateral structures open up to emerging powers this book will be of great interest to students of european politics eu integration transatlantic relations us foreign policy diplomacy international security and ir in general

since 9-11 interest in islamophobia has steadily increased as has the number of academic publications discussing the phenomenon however theoretical expositions have dominated the field lived experiences of islamophobia by contrast have received little attention in recognition of the importance of addressing this imbalance this book provides theoretically informed analyses alongside everyday testimonies of anti muslim racism set comparatively in an international context carr argues that the failure of the neoliberal state to collect data on anti muslim racism highlights the perpetuation of race blindness within governance not only does this mean that the salience of racism is denied in the lives of those who experience it but this also enables the state to absolve itself from challenging the issue and providing the necessary supports to muslim communities offering original empirical research and theoretical engagement with the concept of race blind neoliberal governance this book will appeal to students and scholars across the social sciences in addition to policymakers and activists working in this topical area

New Insights into the Future of Pharmacoepidemiology and Drug Safety 2021-10-13 based on legal philosophical research and informed by insights gleaned from empirical case studies this book sets out three central claims about integration requirements as conditions for attaining increased rights ie family migration permanent residency and citizenship in europe 1 that the recent proliferation of these mandatory integration requirements is rooted in a shift towards individualised conceptions of integration 2 that this shift is counterproductive as it creates barriers to participation and inclusion for newcomers who will most likely permanently settle and is normatively problematic insofar as it produces status hierarchies between native born and immigrant citizens 3 that the remedy for this situation is a firewall that disconnects integration policy from access to rights the book draws on perspectives on immigrant integration in multiple eu member states and includes legal and political reactions to the refugee migrant crisis
