Manual of Pathology 1896 the 40mm bofors gun first produced in the 1930s has become one of the most famous artillery pieces of all time it shows no sign of fading from the defence scene even though in the second decade of the twenty first century it performs in many roles that were not contemplated by its original designers it has also proved to be so versatile that it is now allied to electronic and other technological marvels that were mere pipe dreams only a few years ago when the bofors entered the international defence market its primary quarry the military aircraft was still a slow and fragile machine that could be terminally damaged by a single hit from a 40mm projectile terry gander describes this early period in the gun s development and he shows how despite recent increases in target speed and other performance parameters it can still inflict a one hit kill on almost any aircraft helicopter or guided missile perhaps the most astonishing aspect of the story is that the fundamentals of today s bofors guns remain virtually unchanged from the very first examples to come off the karlskoga production line in sweden in all its forms the bofors continues to be a sound reliable and lethal piece of military hardware that has given good service to gunners all over the world terry gander s comprehensive account of the history of this remarkable weapon over the course of almost eighty years is fascinating reading and an invaluable work of reference for military historians and artillery specialists alike it is the definitive work in the field as featured on bbc radio guernsey

The County Families of the United Kingdom, Or 1862 the x stood for experimental but it might equally have meant extraordinary exotic or extravagant as this giant submarine attracted superlatives the world's largest most heavily armed and deepest diving submersible of the day x 1 was a controversial project conceived behind the backs of the politicians and would remain an unwanted stepchild as British diplomats at the Washington Naval Conference were trying to outlaw the use of submarines as commerce raiders the Admiralty was designing and building the world's most powerful corsair submarine to destroy single handed entire convoys of merchant ships this book explores the historical background to submarine cruisers the personalities involved in x 1's design and service the spy drama surrounding her launch the treason trial of a leading RN submarine commander the ship's chequered career and her political demise despite real technical successes she would finally fall foul of black propaganda aimed at persuading foreign naval powers that the cruiser submarine did not work even today uninformed opinion repeats the myth of her failure however it was completely ignored by other navies who went on building submarine cruisers of their own some larger than but none so sophisticated as x 1 the book analyses in detail the submarine cruisers built by the US Navy the French and the Japanese plus the projected German copy of x 1 the Type XI U-boat paying belated tribute to the real importance of the mysterious x 1
