Reflected in you 2012

Gideon calls me his angel but he's the miracle in my life my gorgeous wounded warrior so determined to slay my demons while refusing to face his own the vows we'd exchanged should have bound us tighter than blood and flesh instead they opened old wounds exposed pain and insecurities and lured bitter enemies out of the shadows I felt him slipping from my grasp my greatest fears becoming my reality my love tested in ways I wasn't sure I was strong enough to bear at the brightest time in our lives the darkness of his past encroached and threatened everything we'd worked so hard for we faced a terrible choice the familiar safety of the lives we'd had before each other or the fight for a future that suddenly seemed an impossible and hopeless dream

Captivated by You 2015

the sensual saga of Eva and Gideon continues in the second novel in the #1 New York Times bestselling Crossfire series Gideon Cross as beautiful and flawless on the outside as he was damaged and tormented on the inside he was a bright scorching flame that singed me with the darkest of pleasures i couldn't stay away i didn't want to he was my addiction my every desire mine my past was as violent as his and i was just as broken we'd never work it was too hard too painful except when it was perfect those moments when the driving hunger and desperate love were the most exquisite insanity we were bound by our need and our passion would take us beyond our limits to the sweetest sharpest edge of obsession

the marriage of philosophy and fiction in the first third of spain s twentieth century was a fertile one it produced some truly notable offspring novels that cross genre boundaries to find innovative forms and treatises that fuse literature and philosophy in new ways in her illuminating interdisciplinary study of spanish fiction of the silver age roberta johnson places this important body of spanish literature in context through a synthesis of social literary and philosophical history her examination of the work of miguel de unamuno pio baroja azorin ramon perez de ayala juan ramon jimenez gabriel miro pedro salinas rosa chacel and benjamin jarnes brings to light philosophical frictions and debates and opens new interpersonal and intertextual perspectives on many of the period s most canonical novels johnson reformulates the traditional discussion of generations and isms by viewing the period as an intergenerational complex in which writers with similar philosophical and personal interests constituted dynamic groupings that interacted and constantly defined and redefined one another current narratological theories including those of todorov genette bakhtin and martinez bonati assist in teasing out the intertextual maneuvers and philosophical conflicts embedded in the novels of the period while the sociological and biographical material bridges the philosophical and literary analyses the result solidly grounded in original archival research is a convincingly complete picture of spain s intellectual world in the first thirty years of this century crossfire should revolutionize thinking about the generation of 98 and the generation of 14 by identifying the heterogeneous philosophical sources of each and the writers reactions to them in fiction
