Quartet 1981

Quartet 1981 is a collection of four short stories by Jean Rhys, set in the Caribbean. The stories are 'The Fishermen', 'The Boatman', 'The Boatman's Wife', and 'The Boatman's Daughter'. They explore themes of isolation, desire, and the impact of colonialism on the Caribbean people.

Quartet 1929

Jean Rhys, acclaimed author of wide sargasso sea quartet and other novels treating the alienation of a woman from the caribbean living in european settings has been a focus of interest both as a feminist writer and in the context of caribbean literature

Quartet... 1998-05

Marya, une jeune anglaise, vient d'épouser Stephan, un polonais, et tous deux sont venus vivre à Paris. Marya est heureuse et ne cherche pas trop à savoir d'où provient l'argent du ménage jusqu'au jour où Stephan est arrêté pour vol et recel d'œuvres d'art. Désespérée sans ressources, Marya tombe dans le piège des Heidler, un couple de mécènes anglais connus dans les milieux bohèmes de Montparnasse. Marya subira effrayée et fascinée la sensualité de Heidler et la domination de sa femme complice de leur liaison. Stephan, une fois sorti de Fresnes, Marya et lui se retrouvent, mais Marya ne peut renoncer à Heidler. Elle ne peut pas davantage abandonner Stephan, elle les perdra tous les deux. L'échec de l'amour, son infernale ambiguïté, la poignante défaite d'un couple désarmé. Jean Rhys nous les dit avec une rare économie de moyens, un humour implacable en même temps qu'elle nous restitue le Paris futile et féroce des années 20. C'est à partir de ce roman que James Ivory a tourné son film Quartet en 1981 avec Isabelle Adjani, Alan Bates, Anthony Higgins et Maggie Smith.

thomas explores rhys s practices of composition in her fiction and drafts as well as her self reflective comment on her writing the author examines patterns of interrelation intertextuality intermediality and allusion both diachronic and synchronic as well as the cultural histories entwined within them through close analysis of these this book reveals new experimental thematic generic and political reaches of rhys s fiction and sharpens our insight into her complex writerly affiliations and lineages

this collection explores and clarifies two of the most contested ideas in literary theory influence and intertextuality the study of influence tends to centre on major authors and canonical works identifying prior documents as sources or contexts for a given author intertextuality on the other hand is a concept unconcerned with authors as individuals it treats all texts as part of a network of discourse that includes culture history and social practices as well as other literary works in thirteen essays drawing on the entire spectrum of english and american literary history this volume considers the relationship between these two terms across the whole range of their usage

black slave populations tense oppositions in caribbean culture colonial vs native white vs black male conqueror vs female subject supply powerful themes and spark complex narrative experiments in the fiction of dominica born novelist jean rhys in this pathfinding study mary lou emery focuses on rhys s handling of these oppositions using a caribbean cultural perspective to replace the mainly european aesthetic moral and psychological standards that have served to misread and sometimes devalue rhys s writing emery considers all five rhys novels beginning with wide sargasso sea as the most explicitly caribbean in its setting in its participation in the culminating decades of a west indian literary naissance and most importantly in its subversive transformation of european concepts of character from a sociocultural perspective she argues persuasively that the earlier novels voyage in the dark quartet after leaving mr mackenzie and good morning midnight should be read as emergent caribbean fiction written in tense dialogue with european modernism building on this thesis she reveals how the apparent passivity masochism or silence of rhys s female protagonists results from their doubly marginalized status as women and as subject peoples also she explores how rhys s women seek out alternative identities in dreamed of magically realized or chosen communities these discoveries offer important insights on literary modernism caribbean fiction and the formation of female identity

this volume works through deconstructing traditional models of the imago dei in search of a more inclusive understanding of the doctrine one that allows for literature to bring important questions to bear brief analyses of karl barth and paul tillich and then growing dissatisfaction with the two in various liberation theologies brings to light the problems of a perfected image of god an exploration of four novels by jean rhys between 1928 and 1939 then follows the footsteps of katie cannon and others who include literature in their theological work the rhys novels follow tragic stories of women who are wounded both by others and by their own inability to see themselves as worthy through the questions these women ask about themselves and god the reconstruction of the imago dei is set up this reconstruction centers trauma wounds and a non contrastive transcendence that kathryn tanner defines ultimately it is not in how we are perfect but rather through our risks our wounds and even our grief that we connect to god engaging and energetic this biography of ford madox ford presents the modernist writer in a previously unexplored way other biographies have approached ford as an author indeed his memoirs give almost no indication that the women in his life were of any importance or in fact that they ever existed literary scholar joseph wiesenfarth revises this approach by tracing ford s relationships with four women central to his life wiesenfarth shows how these four women violet hunt jean rhys stella bowen and janice biala established themselves as artists in their own right and depicted ford in their works as more than the proper man he thought himself to be for the women he was both a lover and a leaver a collaborator and a companion with an eye to original paintings and manuscripts wiesenfarth examines the artistic and romantic interplay from debates about reparations to the rise of the welfare state the decades following world war i saw a widespread turn across disciplines to questions about the nature and role of gifts what is a gift what do gifts mean and do which individuals and institutions have the authority to give marshalling wide ranging interdisciplinary research returning the gift argues that these questions centrally shaped literary modernism the book begins by revisiting the locus classicus of twentieth century gift theory the french sociologist marcel mauss s 1925 essay the gift the form and reason for exchange in archaic societies his title notwithstanding the gift mauss envisions is not primitive or pre capitalist but rather a distinctively modern phenomenon subsequent chapters offer sustained nuanced readings of novels and nonfiction by virginia woolf jean rhys gertrude stein and h d from the 1920s to 1940s underscoring the ways their writing is illuminated by contemporaneous developments in the social sciences economics and politics while also making a case for their unique contributions to broader debates about gifts not only do these writers insist that literature is a special kind of gift but they also pose challenges to the gift s feminization in the work of both their victorian forebears and contemporary male theorists each of these writers uses tropes and narratives of giving of hospitality sympathy reciprocity charity genius and kinship to imagine more egalitarian social possibilities under the conditions of the capitalist present the language of the gift is not as we might expect a mark of hostility to the market so much as a means of giving form to the society in market society of representing everyday experiences of exchange that the myth of the free market works even now to render unthinkable

this innovative volume extends existing conversations on translation and modernism with an eye toward bringing renewed attention to its ethically complex appropriative nature and the subsequent ways in which modernist translators become co creators of the materials they translate wittman builds on existing work at the intersection of the two fields to offer a more dynamic nuanced and wider lens on translation and modernism the book draws on scholarship from descriptive translation studies polysystems theory and literary translation to explore modernist translators appropriation of source texts and their continuous recalibrations of equivalence between source text and translation chapters focus on translation projects from a range of writers including beckett garnett lawrence mansfield and rhys with a particular spotlight on how women s translations and women translators innovations were judged more critically than those of their male counterparts taken together the volume puts forth a fresh perspective on translation and modernism and of the role of the modernist translator as co creator in the translation process this book will be of particular interest to scholars in translation studies modernism reception theory and gender studies
