Improving Management of Farmer Cooperatives 1965 This book presents a study of cooperatives as a two-layer entrepreneurial model and analyzes cooperative enterprises. Above all, it explores how inducements from the firm and contributions from its members in their respective roles are aligned and seeks to answer the question of what this means for managing each cooperative as a firm as well as a group. The book is divided into three parts, the first of which begins with an analysis of specific aspects of cooperative enterprises with a focus on the added value of cooperation, the weighing of interests, and a behavioral perspective on the imminent communities and their goals in a structured approach. The book examines the various facets of relationships in cooperatives on a transactional, financial, and control level. Further, a case study on the Dutch cooperative Rabobank illustrates what happens when members fail in turn. Part two concentrates on integrating the lessons learned with the existing economic literature on cooperatives so as to contribute to a theory of cooperative management. Finally, the book links the theoretical approach to practice in the third part. It reports on the outcomes of using a computerized simulation game to show members of cooperatives how to manage their business and the cooperative business at the same time, enabling them to understand and actively practice two-level entrepreneurship.
