no longer represented only by hollywood and the commercial fashion industry los angeles in recent years has received international media attention as one of the world's new art centers from the appearance of local artists in major european exhibitions to widely reported multimillion dollar museum endowments los angeles has entered the world cultural stage art and the city civic imagination and cultural authority in los angeles places this celebrated arrival in the richer context of art controversies and political contests over modern art and art spaces in the twentieth century the ferus gallery's pop infused look and finish fetish now synonymous with los angeles's postwar modernist aesthetics emerged from a dispersed art community that struggled in the 1950s to find a toehold in a local scene reeling from the censure of the mccarthy era the watts towers have long faced neglect despite their international fame while venice beach barnsdall park griffith park and olvera street proved highly contentious sites of urban cultural expression challenging historical accounts that situate the city's origins as an art center in the 1960s art and the city argues that debates over modernism among artists and civic leaders alike made art a charged political site as early as the 1910s the legacy of those early battles reverberated throughout the century because of a rich tradition of arts education and the presence of hollywood los angeles historically hosted a talented population of contemporary artists however because of the snug relationship between urban aesthetics and capital investment that underscored the booster goals of the civic arts movement modern artists were pushed out of public exhibition spaces until after world war ii art and the city uncovers the historic struggles for cultural expression and creative space that are hidden behind the city's booster mythology

a revelatory history of the first artist collective in the united states and its effort to reshape nineteenth century art culture and politics the american pre raphaelites founded a uniquely interdisciplinary movement composed of politically radical abolitionist artists and like minded architects critics and scientists active during the civil war this dynamic collective united in a spirit of protest seeking sweeping reforms of national art and culture painting dissent recovers the american pre raphaelites from the margins of history and situates them at the center of transatlantic debates about art slavery education and politics artists such as thomas charles farrer and john henry hill championed a new style of landscape painting characterized by vibrant palettes antipicturesque compositions and meticulous brushwork their radicalism however was not solely one of style sophie lynford traces how the american pre raphaelites proclaimed themselves catalysts of a wide ranging reform movement that staged politically motivated interventions in multiple cultural arenas from architecture and criticism to collecting exhibition design and higher education she examines how they publicly rejected their prominent contemporaries the artists known as the hudson river school and how they offered incisive critiques of antebellum society by importing british models of landscape theory and practice beautifully illustrated and drawing on a wealth of archival material painting dissent transforms our understanding of how american artists depicted the nation during the most turbulent decades of the nineteenth century from the acclaimed biographer of ernest hemingway humphrey bogart and errol flynn comes the first complete biography of the legendary john huston the extraordinary director writer actor and bon vivant who made iconic films such as the maltese falcon the treasure of the sierra madre the asphalt jungle and the african queen and lived one of the most vibrant eventful lives in hollywood history an actor in the 1920s and scriptwriter in the 1930s john huston made his dazzling directorial debut in 1941 with the maltese falcon his career as a filmmaker spanned some fifty seven years and yielded thirty seven feature films he made most of his movies abroad spent much of his life in ireland and mexico and remains one of the most intelligent and influential filmmakers in history with equal attention given to huston's impressive artistic output and tempestuous personal relationships biographer jeffrey meyers presents a vivid narrative of huston's remarkably rich creative life the son of the famous stage and screen actor walter huston john huston was born in nevada city missouri and suffered from a weak heart that forced him to live as an invalid for much of his childhood one day however he impulsively left his sickbed dove over a waterfall swam into a raging river and began to lead a strenuous life he became an expert sportsman as well as a boxer bullfighter hunter soldier gambler and adventurer though he didn't finish high school he was a man of true genius a serious painter and amusing raconteur playwright and story writer stage and screen actor director of plays on Broadway and operas at la scala autobiographer and political activist who crusaded against senator joseph mccarthy's anticommunist witch hunts in hollywood he was a discerning collector of art and connoisseur of literature food and wine passionate about horses and women he had five successively younger wives meyers chronicles huston's extraordinarily peripatetic life and examines his rise as a great masculine artist in the formidable tradition of melville conrad and hemingway whose persona ethos prose style and virile code had a powerful influence on his life and work thirty four of houston s thirty seven films adapted important novels stories and plays and meyers perceptively describes how houston brilliantly transformed the written word into the cinematic image houston s dominant theme is the almost impossible quest tempered by detachment and irony his heroes sacrifice honor in pursuit of wealth but fail in that venture are mocked by cruel fate and remain defiant in the face of defeat based on research in houston s personal and professional archives and interviews with his children friends and colleagues this is the dramatic story of a courageous artist who meyers persuasively argues is one of the most fascinating men who ever lived from the hardcover edition national borders are permeable to all types of illicit action and contraband goods whether it is trafficking humans body parts digital information drugs weapons or money whilst criminals exist in a borderless world where territorial boundaries allow them to manipulate different markets in illicit goods the authorities who pursue them can remain constrained inside their own jurisdictions in a new edition of his ground breaking work boister examines how states must cooperate to tackle some of the greatest security threats in this century so far analyses to what extent vested interests have determined the course of global policy and law enforcement and illustrates how responding to transnational crime itself becomes a form of international relations which reorders global political power and becomes at least in part an end in itself arguing that transnational criminal law is currently geared towards suppressing criminal activity but is not as committed to ensuring justice boister suggests that it might be more strongly influenced by individual moral panics and a desire for criminal retribution than an interest in ensuring a proportional response to offences protection of human rights and the preservation of the rule of law
