learning to be confident can put you in the game to win or kill your dreams overnight when looking at the world today and even social media you imagine that everyone is living this confident and goal driven life you will believe that everyone is happy and achieving all their dreams nothing can be further from the truth most people today are drowning in depression feeling inadequate or comparing themselves to people they will never meet i have been there drowning in my thoughts and emotions about not measuring up to this perfect person i created based on the images we are bombarded with on social media i was also guilty of replaying the mistakes of my past which hindered my success moving to nyc from a small town in north carolina and becoming a celebrity makeup artist i was living behind a perfectly contoured face and neatly arched eyebrows but living in a secret hell i struggled with the thought of failure and childhood hurt at my breaking point i had to choose if i wanted to be a success leaving my mark on this world i decided that success suited me and i need to share my story with the world hoping it will touch the lives of at least one person that is when i wrote makeup your life it served as therapy and inspiration for me and i am confident it will do the same for anyone that reads the book this book is a great source of encouragement if you are dealing with who you are and what you want feeling alone misfit understanding how powerful you are inside and out or struggling with confidence self esteem the book covers ways to break down your goals achieve them now being confident in who god created you to be networking to increase your net worth why every woman needs positive affirmations and a glamrus squad and why glitter is not what you think it is i believe you should dream as big as your imagination allows you to dream
