Report to Congress of the U.S.-China Economic and Security Review Commission 2016 jieun kiaer puts forward an argument in this book that the grammar of a language directly underpins the processing of the language in real time this is a view that runs against the orthodoxy of linguistic theorizing for the last 50 years which has insisted that languages have to be characterized in terms that make little or no reference to the dynamics of language use this orthodox view fails to fit languages in which the verb has to be at the end of the clause which encompasses more than half of the world's languages thus as this book shows these languages remain very problematic for conventional theories using a mixture of corpus methods sentence structure analysis prosody and psycholinguistic theory kiaer redresses this imbalance the data features both korean and english example and it functions as one of the very first general introductions to dynamic syntax available
