george lindbeck once characterized postliberalism which received its initial structure from his book the nature of doctrine as an attempt to recover pre modern scriptural interpretation in contemporary form in lord giver of life toward a pneumatological complement to george lindbeck s theory of doctrine jane barter moulaison explores the success of that effort through a close examination of lindbeck s own theological contributions taking seriously the ecumenical promises of lindbeck s writing he was instrumental in advancing lutheran and roman catholic dialogue throughout the 1960s 70s and 80s this book brings lindbeck s famous cultural linguistic model of religion into dialogue with christianity s theological forbearers specifically the eastern progenitors of orthodox confession this constellation of theological voices lindbeck his supporters and detractors along with patristic theologians is meant not only to test the viability of a religious model but more importantly to advance lindbeck s project in ways that have not yet been pursued among the critical questions engaged are to what degree can the excesses of modern theology be overcome by a return to premodern sources what are the implications of a constructive pneumatology to the cultural linguistic model does this complement address the critiques of postliberalism particularly those that consider the role of human agency rationality and autonomy while lindbeck recovers significant and forgotten elements of pre modern biblical interpretation the very formalism of his project sometimes obscures the theological underpinnings of premodern insights and practices through specific attention to eastern trinitarian theologies of the fourth century this book exposes a rather persistent oversight within lindbeck s recovery namely that alongside the regulative function of canon and doctrine early biblical interpretation recognizes the role of the holy spirit in the appropriation of scripture in the mission of the church and in the defence of the gospel within the context of an unbelieving world this book attends to these insights from the early churchs doctrine of the holy spirit in appreciative service to the cultural linguistic model of religion the 3rd edition of literacy learning in the content areas helps readers build the knowledge motivation tools and confidence they need as they integrate literacy into their middle and high school content area classrooms its unique approach to teaching content area literacy actively engages preservice and practicing teachers in reading and writing and the very activities that they will use to teach literacy to their own students in middle and high school classrooms rather than passively learning about strategies for incorporating content area literacy activities readers get hands on experience in such techniques as mapping webbing anticipation guides booktalks class websites and journal writing and reflection readers also learn how to integrate children s and young adult literature primary sources biographies essays poetry and online content communities and websites into their classrooms each chapter offers concrete teaching examples and practical suggestions to help make literacy relevant to students content area learning author sharon kane demonstrates how relevant reading writing speaking listening and visual learning activities can improve learning in content area subjects and at the same time help readers meet national content knowledge standards and benchmarks provides a study guide to the law school entrance exam with content review practice questions and answers test taking strategies and online resources the rich aristocratic and overtly sensual vampire countess seductively promised a somewhat naive tony delmonti that his conversion to vampirism would bring him not only youthful immortality but innumerable women and all the sex and party drugs he could handle plus more besides so far tony had seen only a glimpse of those promises come to think of it that sex was with the countess herself and those were her party drugs do you want healthier more effective relationships if so becoming a genuine giver will give you the knowledge and skills necessary to achieve your goal relationships are central to our very being our survival depends on them the capacity to build relationships is the key to personal happiness and career success relationships are a matter of give and take but not all giving and taking is equally healthy or effective representing an original scholarly synthesis of developmental interpersonal and social psychology this penetrating book argues the best way to have healthy relationships is to move toward becoming a genuine giver a person who gives to others joyfully in a sincere

2016-03-17 this book provides a close look at how paul uses the greco roman royal benefaction system in romans 5 1 11 as well as 5 12 8 39 to accomplish his theological purpose of portraying jesus christ as the supreme royal benefactor so that the roman believers might faithfully respond to his reign now even as they anticipate glorification this study makes at least three significant contributions first at the lexical level it provides a reading that accounts for the benefaction motifs that permeate romans 5 1 11 and romans 5 12 8 39 second it looks at the relationship between χάρις as used in romans 5 2 and the messiah s sacrifice as described in romans 5 6 10 even as it asserts that paul portrays christ as a royal benefactor in ways that surprise the greco roman notion of brokerage and the expectation that a beneficiary would be willing to die for the sake of his benefactor third the study demonstrates that the messiah s supreme benefaction demands appropriate reciprocity or fitting response

Moses the Law-giver 1879 what if our world were considered a gift extending postmodern gift theory to ecological and ecotheological concerns mark manolopoulos explores how creation the what is can be seen as a gift creation when viewed in a radically egalitarian way is the matrix of all material things human otherwise than human or humanly manufactured utilizing and critiquing the work of jacques derrida and jean luc marion manolopoulos argues that the gift is an irresolvable paradox marked by the contradictory elements of excess gratuity linearity and exchange gratitude return philosophical and theological reflections on the gift become entangled in its paradoxical tension but ultimately both aspects must be respected and reflected when it comes to the creation gift we should vacillate between responses like letting be enjoyment utility and return elegantly written and thought provoking if creation is a gift both contributes to the ongoing debate on the gift and provides a fresh philosophical and theological consideration of the environmental crisis
