in this collection of essays originally presented at the academy of european law in florence the changing landscape of the eu's legal acts is explored further to this the changing boundaries between legal acts and processes which may create norms but do not create law in the traditional sense are analysed this landscape is presented in two ways firstly by focusing on the transformations and challenges to the eu's traditional legal acts in particular since the reconfiguration of the categories of legal acts and the procedures for which they are adopted by the lisbon treaty secondly the collection focuses on those acts found at or beyond the margin of classic eu legal acts including acts of member states such as inter se treaties self regulation and collective agreements so called soft law and decision making outside the normal legislative procedures the volume endeavours to explain the adaptability of the eu legal order provided that the legal instruments at the union s disposal appear to be identical to when the treaty of rome came into force 60 years ago it also explores the challenges that the producing and quality of acts pose for the eu s legal order such as alterations to institutional balance and the roles of the different institutional actors and challenges to the rule of law the majority of rules adopted at the eu level are not issued by democratically elected institutions but rather by administrative bodies which are empowered to exercise rule making powers by legislative acts this book analyses the legal mechanism through which these powers are conferred on the most relevant bodies in the eu institutional landscape namely the european commission the council the ecb and eu agencies and the democratic controls in place to limit and oversee the exercise of these powers providing an overarching perspective of the delegation of powers this book reflects on the notion of delegation and on the commonalities between the different forms of delegation identified it focuses on the legal requirements and limits for the delegating act the procedures for the exercise of such powers the position of the acts in the hierarchy of norms and their judicial review overcoming the fragmentation which characterized the development of the different forms of delegation in the eu this analysis provides a clear structured and coherent picture of the legal framework for the delegation of powers in the light of the constitutional principles of this legal system academics and practitioners will equally appreciate this simply what does the internal market mean the eu is committed to the construction of an internal market and in this analysis stephen weatherill explains that the eu s internal market is an ambiguous legal concept one may readily suppose that the united kingdom possesses an internal market so does germany so does france so does australia and canada and the united states of america the european union aspires to an internal market but the detailed patterns governing these several internal markets are not uniform in fact they vary according to the extent to which the constituent units are permitted to pursue different regulatory policies they vary according to the scope of law making competence and powers allocated to the central authority they vary according to the governing institutional judicial and political arrangements the quality and intensity of the regulated environment varies according to the choices made there is a broad band of possible internal markets ranging from one that is radically decentralized as a result of a choice in favour of unrestricted inter jurisdictional competition to at the other extreme one that is radically centralized in the sense that law making competence has been completely stripped away from the constituent units in favour of the central authority within that spectrum there is a huge range of options in this inquiry into the limits and ambiguities of the internal market as a legal concept weatherill examines and explains the choices made by the eu and demonstrates what they entail for the shape of the eu s internal market this book is not about brexit but it shows that one of the claims commonly made by brexiteers that the internal market can be confined merely to a deregulatory exercise in free market economics has no support whatsoever in either eu constitutional law or in eu legislative and judicial practice the limited scope of participation in the making of eu law remains a continued source of controversy featuring prominently in recent institutional and political developments that have been shaping the eu s constitutional framework most intensely in the follow up of the commission s white paper on governance yet little attention has been paid to participation rights as a means of ensuring the procedural protection of persons affected by eu regulation in its diverse forms this is a dimension of the rule of law that has been largely ignored by eu legislative and judicial bodies not only the legislator but also the court of justice and the court of first instance tend to adhere to excessively formal conceptions of participation rights that are premised on the right to be heard in individual procedures as well as to a restrictive view regarding the relationships between the citizens and the administration this book shows why in the face of new regulatory developments these conceptions are currently inadequate to ensure the legal protection of rights and interests affected by eu regulation combining a conceptual analysis with thorough empirical scrutiny this book assesses the scope of participation rights in eu law against their rationales and underlying legal values it makes a case for the extension of participation rights to new situations and new types of procedures in particular those that would generally fall within the category of rulemaking it brings distinct normative insights into a crucial theme of eu administrative law and makes a topical and timely contribution to the increasingly notable theme of public participation in eu regulation joanna mendes 2009 thesis upon which participation in eu rule making is based was awarded the the european university institute florence mauro cappelletti prize for the best doctoral thesis using a methodology of comparative law
