to live and escape from the spirits that haunt their high school a new edition of the classic primer in the psychology of computation with a new introduction a new epilogue and extensive notes added to the original text in the second self sherry turkle looks at the computer not as a tool but as part of our social and psychological lives she looks beyond how we use computer games and spreadsheets to explore how the computer affects our awareness of ourselves of one another and of our relationship with the world technology she writes catalyzes changes not only in what we do but in how we think first published in 1984 the second self is still essential reading as a primer in the psychology of computation this twentieth anniversary edition allows us to reconsider two decades of computer culture to re-experience what was and is most novel in our new media culture and to view our own contemporary relationship with technology with fresh eyes turkle frames this classic work with a new introduction a new epilogue and extensive notes added to the original text turkle talks to children college students engineers ai scientists hackers and personal computer owners people confronting machines that seem to think and at the same time suggest a new way for us to think about human thought emotion memory and understanding her interviews reveal that we experience computers as being on the border between inanimate and animate as both an extension of the self and part of the external world their special place betwixt and between traditional categories is part of what makes them compelling and evocative in the introduction to this edition turkle quotes a pda user as saying when my palm crashed it was like a death i thought i had lost my mind why we think of the workings of a machine in psychological terms how this happens and what it means for all of us is the ever more timely subject of the second self the book chronicles the events behind the breakdown of a marriage and how those events were based on a way of thinking founded on childhood tragedies and experiences the work also chronicles the impact of those tragedies upon loved ones and friends when the help necessary for liberation from a life of tragedy through proper counseling was not sought recorded within the book is one man's struggle for redemption and reconciliation of all that he lost or threw new hampshire under the strangest of circumstances in this one of a kind novel of life death and whatever comes after from the acclaimed author of rabbit cake one of the best books of the year the washington post book riot longlisted for the joyce carol oates prize it was a source of entertainment at maple street cemetery both funny and sad the kind of story we like best natural born healer emma starling once had big plans for her life but she s lost her way a medical school dropout she s come back to small town everton new hampshire to care for her father who is dying from a mysterious brain disease clive starling has been hallucinating small animals as well as having visions of the ghost of a long dead naturalist ernest harold baynes once known for letting wild animals live in his house this ghost has been giving clive some ideas on how to spend his final days emma arrives home knowing she must face her dad s illness her mom s judgment and her younger brother s recent stint in rehab but she s unprepared to find that her former best friend from high school is missing with no one bothering to look for her the police say they don t spend much time looking for drug addicts emma s dad is the only one convinced the young woman might still be alive and emma is hopeful he could be right someone should look for her at least emma isn t really trying to be a hero but somehow she and her father bring about just the kind of miracle the town needs set against the backdrop of a small town in the throes of a very real opioid crisis unlikely animals is a tragicomic novel about familial expectations imperfect friendships and the possibility of resurrecting that which had been thought irrevocably lost authors susan koba and carol mitchell introduce teachers of grades 3 5 to their conceptual framework for successful instruction of hard to teach science concepts their methodology comprises four steps 1 engage students about their preconceptions and address their thinking 2 target lessons to be learned 3 determine appropriate strategies and 4 use standards based teaching that builds on student understandings the authors not only explain how to use their framework but also provide a variety of tools and examples of its application on four hard to teach foundational concepts the flow of energy and matter in ecosystems force and motion matter and its transformation and earth s shape both preservice and inservice elementary school teachers will find this approach appealing and the authors engaging writing style and user friendly tables help educators adapt the method with ease this book offers professional teacher educators a rare opportunity to harvest the thinking of pioneering colleagues spanning dozens of universities and to benefit from the creativity
